

Call for applications «What's next_Compass 2026/27»

The Z-Kubator's support programme with a focus on your social, cultural and economic development steps

Apply for What's next_Compass / Application deadline Friday, 20 March 2026, 23:59 CET

As a transition to professional practice, the 12-month programme enables graduates from the disciplines of Art Education, Design, Film, Fine Arts, Music, Dance, Theatre, and Transdisciplinary Studies to sharpen and refine their individual profiles, network with practitioners and lay the foundations for building a sustainable career in the arts.

The programme focuses on the driving forces and needs of the participants to create a socially, culturally and economically sustainable basis on which to develop their own practice. Artistic and entrepreneurial topics come together.

Don't worry; if you are unsure whether or how your own practice fits with our approach and the Z-Kubator themes, find out during a Zoom session with more information about the programme and testimonials from current and former participants (dates and links below).

The aim of the programme is for participants to have discovered and explored possibilities and opportunities for themselves over the 12 months and to be able to strategically take the next steps in their development.

What's next_Compass is supported by the City of Zurich and the Righini-Fries Foundation.

For whom?

We are looking for BA and MA graduates from all disciplines of the ZHdK up to two years after graduation (2023 or later) who are interested in developing their work in an inter- or transdisciplinary context. We particularly support graduates who want to reflect on and test new working methods and ways at the interface between artistic or design ideas and entrepreneurial practice. We require the professional career aspect in an application, as well as the ability to work independently. A healthy balance between artistic freedom and discipline is necessary to benefit from this programme.

It is not possible to be enrolled in a BA or MA programme or preparatory training (Preparatory Courses in Art and Design or PreCollege Music) at the ZHdK and participate in the Z-Kubator programme at the same time. Participants and graduates of further education programmes (CAS, MAS) are not eligible to apply.

A rotating jury consisting of ZHdK internal and external members decides on participation.

What do we expect from you?

The topics that the Z-Kubator focuses on (see link below) are relevant to your further development and you see value in the inter- and transdisciplinary exchange. It is expected that you can find the necessary time to participate in workshops and joint activities (approx. 5 per year). The Z-Kubator offers you individual support during these 12 months. For good cooperation, it is important for us to have a trustworthy relationship and good communication. We want to see you committed to the further development of your ideas, projects and personal goals and not afraid to try out new things with the necessary support.
