

I believe truth is greater than perfection.

I believe free thought can open new worlds.

I believe love is not selfish.

I believe I can find balance.

I believe saying “no” is also a form of love.

I believe art does not need to please.

I believe strangeness is more interesting than beauty.

I believe uniqueness matters more than imitation.

I believe my body speaks, and I only follow it.

I believe dance can be anything.

I believe dance should not be decoration, but provocation.

I believe in a dance that questions,

that disturbs,

that loves,

and that keeps searching.
